SENATOR CROSBY: ...after work or a glass or two of wine with dinner. Studies show that the average 170 pound male would have to consume more than four drinks within one hour, on an empty stomach, to reach .08. The average 137 pound female would need three drinks, on an empty stomach, to reach that level. I don't think any of you on this floor go in and sit down and drink three or four drinks in an hour on an empty stomach, and that's the whole point about .08, that, if you have a real test, you would find out, and I think there are some people here maybe on this floor who have gone to those day-long tests with the State Patrol and with other groups, and had drinks and ate, and then found out that they were impaired at .02, or .03, or .04.

SENATOR WILL: Time.

SENATOR CROSBY: There....thank you. I'll turn my light on again.

SENATOR WILL: Thank you, Senator Crosby. Senator Wehrbein, on the Dwite Pedersen amendment.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Yes, Mr. Speaker, members, I'm going to be very brief and I'll give Senator Pedersen some of my time. I want to support this, but at this point I can't. And one of the reasons is with the MIP, as I understand it, many times there's groups getting together and maybe only a few, or a handful of young people are actually drinking, the rest happen to be there. It might be at a party, it might be in a car. But in the eyes of the law they're guilty, whether they are part of it or not. That's, to me, a part of life that's very unfortunate, but is the case. And from that standpoint, I have a difficulty supporting this bill, even though I really want to. And because there's lots of kids out there that are playing it safe, doing what they should do, but many times they're in awkward positions and have no control over what it is and something like this then impacts them for quite a significant part of their life at a significant time of their life. And so I would be interested in doing something like this. I think it needs to be refined a little more. And with that, I'm going to turn it over to Senator Pedersen, if he'd like to have some of my time.

SENATOR WILL: Senator Pedersen, you have a little under four
